Abby (7m, Los Angeles, CA) DVD
Sunday, July 15, 2012 7:00pm Film Block

The life of a thirty-something adolescent-adult. Abby sits in an empty bar waiting for anyone to talk to. The first person to enter the bar gets trapped in her desperate and disjointed dialog. As she unravels the random stories of her life: her dysfunctional co-dependent relationship with her mother, her childhood traumas, and her journeys into pseudo-spiritual awakening, we begin to question the reliability of her information and the truth of who she really is. The film culminates in the revelation of Abby's true situation. Director: Dash Mihok. Producer: David Kebo. Writer/Producer: Gwen Mihok. Short Film. World Premiere. (Profanity)

Affairs Across America:
The Ashley Madison Story (Trailer) (1m, Canada) DVD
Wednesday, July 18, 2012 5:00pm Film Block

How did one man convince over 11 million people that infidelity was acceptable? We follow the phenomenon of the world's most hated website—The Ashley Madison Agency, which is a site for married people wanting to cheat on their spouses. How did they get their start? How does a company that is not allowed to advertise get noticed? How big have they grown in the ten years since their inception, and where do they go from here? This in-depth documentary looks at the genius marketing side of the company—how they choose their controversies and of course how they manage to get international appeal without paying for advertising. Starring Dave Navarro, Dave Attell, Evan Seinfeld, Richard Dreyfuss, Robin Leach, Sasha Grey, Savanna Samson, Theresa Flynt. Director/Producer/Writer: Samuel Jacob. Foreign. World Premiere. (Sex)

Knocking on the Devil's Door (1h36m, New York, NY) DVD
Tuesday, July 17, 2012 5:00pm Film Block

The nuclear reactor catastrophes at Chernobyl, Three Mile Island, and now at Fukushima, Japan, remind us that a heinous specter hovers over the health and security of millions of people worldwide. Not only does the threat of nuclear weapons proliferation remain but every nuclear station sits as a ticking bomb awaiting meltdown and terrorist attack. Many Russian studies conclude that the Chernobyl disaster has been responsible for the deaths of approximately a million people since the 1986 meltdown. And the cost of the Daiichi Fukushima crisis may be higher. From the mining of radioactive materials to their transportation, from reactor fusion to the storage of radioactive waste, the energy cartel is contaminating natural habitats, rivers and aquifers while endangering millions of lives. Director/Producer: Gary Null. Documentary. Feature Film. Long Island Premiere. (Intense graphic images)

The year was 1965. A year prior, the Beatles had made their tremendous debut on the Ed Sullivan Show, igniting the British Invasion and prompting the emergence of bands all over the United States. 63% of all kids under 20 were in a band. Most teens wanted to be like the Beatles, the Rolling Stones, the Animals, etc. They had the drive to pick up an instrument, get together and create songs with a powerful and expressive delivery, but never entered the musical mainstream. This is the story of the very lucky ones. Director/Producer: John Lazzaro. Documentary. Short Film. World Premiere.

The old woman is an Alzheimer's patient in a nursing home, and does not even acknowledge her daughter and son-in-law who are visiting. But her mind is not as inactive as people believe. She doesn't respond to her daughter's attempts to talk to her, but her mind conjures up memories of the life that she once lived, of the child she once was. Her vacant stare belies the images, the activity, that stories that reverberate inside her head. For her, these mental images are very real; so real, in fact, that when her daughter and son-in-law leave, she, slowly, methodically, gets up, inconspicuously walks out of the nursing home, and goes in search of them. Director/Producer/Writer: James Babanikos. Writer: Sean Webley. Producers: Serya Yesilcay, Tim Sorel. Short Film. World Premiere.
